British Columbia Scenery. In a recent number of the Toront Leader we observed an article on the subject of Canadian Scenery, in which the writer depicts in glowing language the varied beauties of that portion of the Dominion embraced within the limits of the Province of Ontario. "Everything that can charm the eye and captivate the fancy," we are told, "is there to be met Beautiful lakes, splendid rivers, and majestic waterfalls are interspersed smong lofty hills and shaded valleys, surmounted with foliage of every variety of tint and attractiveness of colour. The large forests standing in their primeval grandeur, look down on the beholder in every direction, while the shady retreats these grand old woods, seem to invite to a familiar acquaintance with their recesses and undisclosed wonders." The above extract, we know to be literally true as regards the fine old Province of Ontario. which are interspersed and wind through regards the fine old Province of Ontario, and may for ought we know apply with equal force to the other eastern Provinces; but, if applied to British Columbia, it is but a very faint description indeed of the actual magnificence and grandenr of the scenery presented to the eye of the tourist, from one end of this Province to the other. Talk of beautiful lakes.—Ontario may surpass us in the size of her lakes, but neither in number nor in beauty of surroundings can the lakes of that Province compare with those of British Columbia. We have no waterfalls that can compare with Niagara in respect of the vastness of the body of water which SEVERAL SUMS OF MONEY TO Lant on good security at moderate interest. constitutes that mighty cataract, but there are numbers of cutaructs in Province which in extent of fall would measure as many feet as Niagara does inches-nor are they simply gentle cascades, rippling down the mountain sides, but vast volumes of water pouring in an unbroken stream over precipices two thou sand feet high and mingling with the ocean beneath. Everything in this Province is on a gigantic scale, as compared with either of the sister Prolost amid our towering mountains, whose peaks are buried in the clouds, and wrapped in eternal spow. Tueir largest forest trees, "standing in their primeval grandeur," would be completely overshadowed by the giants of our forests, towering three hundred feet heavenward, and with a circumference at the base of from fifty to sixty feet. For diversified scenery, embracing lofty mountains, rolling hills, dense woodlands, fertile plains, mountain torrents, navigable rivers, gulfs, straits, inlets, bays, with islands innumerable cropping up here and there along the whole coast line of the Province, there is probably no country in the world that can surpass British Columbia. Here the student of Nature or the mere seeker after pleasure may follow the bent of his inclination to our contemporary we would say, "To displays her choicest and noblest works, unadulterated by the unsparing hand of man, who, in the march of his civilizing instinct, frequently destroys what he can never again build or remodel. To the artist she presents views which will honor his pencil, and rival the far-famed scenes of Switzerland and the classic regions of Italy. While to the sportsman and epi-cure, she gives the privilege to invade her domains and take whatever his skill and prowess may find" Were British Columbia as well known to English sportsmen and pleasure seekers as Italy or Switzerland, we should have more of them visiting our shores to enjoy the invigorating influences of our unsurpassed climate, and indulge their inclination for sport in whatever manner fancy might dictate, whether upon land or water. Our forcets abound in game, and our rivers, lakes and bays teem with the choicest varieties of fish. Those who have a passion for scaling mountain steeps will here find scope for the exercise of feats of daring in that direction. If to enjoy primeval solitude be an idiosyncracy with any, here they may in-dulge it to the fullest possible extent; and to those who take delight in revelling smid the beauties of Nature's handiwork in the most fascinating forms in which they can be presented to the eye, we would just say that they can be nowhere tound in greater profusion or perfection than in the immediate neighborhood of our own good city of Victoria. We look forward with confidence to the time when railroad communication shall bring Victoria into more immediate intercourse with the outside world, when greater facilities for travelling will enable people to reach our shores at less labor and expense than they now can, and when that is accomplished we fully expect to see Yictoria become, what Nature intended she should, one of the most popular places of summer resect for persons in

Concerning the photographing of freekled, or discolored faces, so as to hide such blem-ishes, while promished collection may be a very excellent thing, there is something else that ought to have a place in the dressing-room attached to every studio I allude, not to the puff-box, but to a kind of white liquid cosmetic much used by the fair sex when dressing for the opera, a ball, or an allude, Boots and Shoes, evening party. 1 was on one occasion asked Ladies' Dress Goods, by a lady friend to examine some of this cosby a lady friend to examine some or tails con-metic, in order to say how it could be prepar-ed. I know of nothing better than this for applying to a lady's face previous to photographing her; for whose properly applied by means of a bit of sponge, it leaves the face of a delicate white coloration. Its value will be properly appreciated if a portrait of a lady with well-developed freekles be taken first with the face in its natural state, and again after the sponge, moisteral state, and again after the sponge, mole-teried with the above cosmetic has been pass-ed-all over it.— British Journel of Photography.

inner to Ex-Mayor Lewis.

Last evening some forty gentlemen ent down to a well-spread dinner in Astrico's saloon, in order to do honor to Richard Lewis, Esq., ex-Mayor of Victoria. After doing full justice to the viands pread by that chef de cuisine, Mr. Astrico, the bloth was removed, when the Chairman, J. S. Prammond, Erq., proposed "The Queen." Drank with all the honors, and "Ged save the Queen."

The Chairman next proposed " The Gov-"Lidrank with three cheers and music. " He's sjolly good fellow. Jas: Feil, Esq., is a neat speech then pro-posed e The Legislavive Assembly." Res-ponded to in a brief speech by A. DeCosmos, ponded to in a brief speech by A. DeCosmos, Requil P. and M.P.P.

The chairman then called on Mr. DeCosmos to propose "The Bench and Bar."

Mr. DeCosmos responded, eulogizing the habit of masting the "Bench," but excepted to the Bar, considering them merely as coworkers in industry with the tailor, the carpenter, the blacksmith, painter, etc. (Re-R. Bishop, Esq., responded in a felicitous

A. Keast, bag , ex-candidate for Mayor, proposed in a humorous speech " The Mayor and Council." Councillor Taylor replied with a sidesplitting story quite apropos.

Councillor Gowen, very loudly called for, took up the toast in a plain but practical apeech, setting forth what the Corporation had dobe, and what they intended to do.

He sat down amid applause.

The Chairman then called on Councillor Gowen to propose "The Guest of the Eventhen rose, and with some warmth and feeling said he took great pleasure in proposing "The Guest of the Evening." He said he was an old, a good, and most useful citizen, privately and publicly, as Councillor and as Mayor of Victoria. On sitting down, a toast to ex-Mayor Lewis and family was druck with three times three cheers, and ' He's a jolly good fellow." Mr. Lewis rose and with great feeling ex-Mr. Lewis rose and with great feeling expressed his thanks for the honor. He had done his duty,—and the many old friends whose guest he was to night, was proof to him that he had done his duty. (Cheers). He alluded to the success of the city schools, in a brief manner. (Repeated interruptions of applause). He alluded to the quarantine for amalipox, stating that in that matter he had done his duty and saved the city from the direct and most fain of scourges. (Propaged applause). He continued at some loaged applause). He continued at some leagth on divers civic matters, not forgetting Mr. Leigh, City Clerk, and sat down with prolonged applause.

Mr. Leigh rose after repeated calls, to express his thanks, glews, and feelings about the Mayor, ex-Mayor, Councillors, and citisens, main aing that no more honest successions. private civic virtues in a higher degree than Lake Buren, thus making the bridge about Mr. Lewis, Guest of the Evening. The following letter was read the Committee of Christ Church, on 4th inst. : Bismor's Csoss, November 11th, 1875,

Dear Mr. McCreight and Mr. Ward, Chu wardens of the Oathedral : I am sorry to trouble you in the midst of your worthy labors for the benefit of the Ca-ihedral, but I feel bound to express the objection I entertain to a concert being held in the new building.

1 Nuch a purpose is foreign to the object for which the Church is built. It is built for the worship of God, for the preaching of His Word and administration of the Sacraments and Ordinances and for no other purpose.

2. To use it as a place of amusement, is to 2. To use it as a place of amusement, is to destroy the sacredness with which we are accustomed in the Church of England to invest our Churches, and tends to create an irreverse which is unarious to religion.

3. So to use the Church is offensive to many devoat and attached members of our Communion. There are other reasons, but these will suffice to explain the objection
